

Dr Tholen's

interview with TODAY

Dr John Tholen, Director of Biomedical Sciences, was interviewed by TODAY recently: In the interview, Dr Tholen took the opportunity to introduce the two new biomedical science degree programmes and highlight its relevance to the growth of Singapore. The interview was conducted by TODAY reporter, Ms Leong Phei Phei.

Dr John Tholen being interviewed by TODAY.

NEWS SCOPE

Riding the Air Waves - Dr Tholen @ News Radio 93.8

"The life sciences will become the fourth pillar as Singapore's manufacturing sector" - Economic Development Board

Riding on the government's call for Singapore to become a life sciences hub, Dr John Tholen, Director of Biomedical Science Department was recently invited by News Radio 93.8 to talk about developments in biomedical science and its new programme, the Foundation Certificate in Biomedical Science (FCBS).

On 28 September 2001, listeners of "In The Living Room" hosted by Koh Joo Khim, was brought into the world of life sciences, by special guest, Dr John Tholen. He went on air to give listeners more information about FCBS and gave a wonderful and detailed perspective into the field of biomedical science. Listeners got to know more about the various fields in bio-technology and its benefits to the economy, through the convergence of biomedical knowledge and technology advancement.

